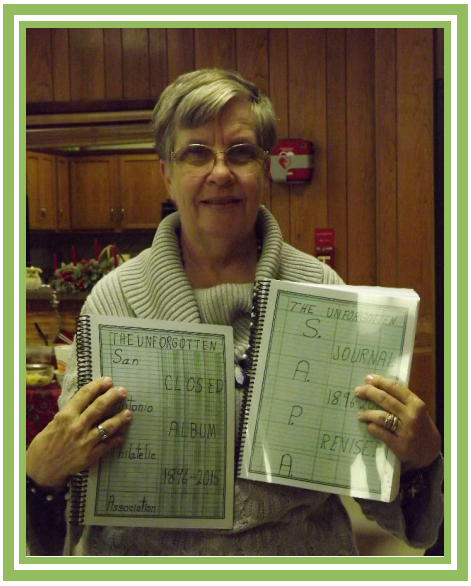
Editor's Corner



At our Christmas Party in December, Dora Roberts presented our club with the product of over a year's worth of work: the SAPA JOURNAL, 1896-2015, and CLOSED ALBUMS - The Unforgotten, 2015. These two books also include a DVD with the information in 3 formats, which will hopefully be readable by any who wish it. They will be available in our club library to any member who is interested.

Dora Roberts and her fellow data digger Fred Groth, in his club historian hat, have done a massive job of finding obscure information that was deeply buried in many different sources. The Journal is a record of our club history, including who the members were, when they were members, and who held what jobs within the club. The Closed Albums is a listing of those members who have died, with many of the obituaries and pictures of members.

SAPA has been in existance for almost 120 years, and many people have come and gone from its membership roster. Over time, unfortunately, information has been lost that may never be recoverable. It is a good thing that Dora has gone to so much effort to collect the history of our club and to help keep the memory of our friends and fellow philatelists available to future stamp collecting enthusiasts.

WE WELCOME VISITORS

SAPA is always happy to welcome visitors. We hope you will enjoy our activities and wish to join us as members.

All visitors are welcome to purchase stamps at our auctions, bourses and bag nights. Anyone wishing to sell or trade at our meetings must be a member.

AUCTION ETIQUETTE :

Be sure to get your Bidder's number card before the auction starts. Come early and look over the lots for sale before the auction. During the auction, lots will be identified by their lot number and a brief description of the lot.

When bidding for a lot, please raise your Bidder's Number card and keep it up until you no longer wish to bid. Flipping the card up and down is confusing for the auctioneers.

Please keep extraneous conversation to a minimum. This makes it easier for everyone to hear what the auctioneer is selling, and allows the auctioneer to more easily keep track of the bidding.

While your purchases will be given to you during the auction, please wait until the end of the auction to pay for them. Your name will be called as the tallys are completed. Those who are only buying will be called first. Buyers who are also sellers will be called next. Checks made out to S.A.P.A. are acceptable. Sellers with unsold lots should be sure to pick up their lots before leaving.

Please be sure to return the Bidder's Number cards so that we can use them again in the following auctions.

We look forward to meeting you.

President's Message

Welcome to a new year at SAPA. A lot of good things stamp wise will be happening this year. First is the World Stamp Show in New York City in May. This show only comes around every 10 years, so for me this qualifies as one of my "bucket list" items to accomplish in my lifetime. I'm looking forward to trying to see all 300 vendors. Closer to home is the TEXPEX show Feb 26 and 27 in Grapevine. Hopefully this year there will not be any ice storms that weekend. SAPA will be putting in a club panel on the Shoot-Out competition. I have nine members who have said they can supply one or more pages for our panel. Bring you page(s) to the Show and Tell meeting on Jan 8 or the Auction Meeting on Jan 15. We will do the final layout prior to the auction on Jan 15th. This way we can all provide input on what we think looks best, before I mail the final submission.

PROGRAM NOTES 2016

JAN 22 - "First Flight Covers of Imperial Airlines" by Dr. Harry Greer On Dec. 8, 1934, the first airmail letter between Britain and Australia was carried by Imperial Airlines. In 1935, this 12754 route was opened for passengers. The journey took 12 days. By 1934, the Short S23 C-Class Empire flying boat was also beginning the route down the Nile and lakes of Africa to Cape Town. These routes were abandoned by 1940 with the beginning of WWII. During this brief period these flying boats became a symbol of the romantic prewar British Empire. Flying the Mail was the engine that drove these flights and the first flight covers to exotic destinations in Asia and Africa are collectable.

Dr. Harry's program will explore and exhibit these very collectable covers. The evening will be most enjoyable and very informative.

FEB 19 - "The San Antonio Missions: The New World Heritage Sites" by Dr. Eric Shepherd This year the five San Antonio Missions were declared as World Heritage Sites. Dr. Shepherd will present a history of the San Antonio Missions and early San Antonio. The presentation will be illustrated with his collection of post cards showing the missions over the years.

Dr. Shepherd always has a good presentation. His work is well researched. We are depending on you Dr. Eric to keep us spellbound with the history of the missions.

Yours in Philately, Pat Richmond

FRED SAYS...

Interested in a murder-mystery surrounding the alleged theft of a block of 4 of the Upside Jenny? Plus the murder of a stamp dealer? I recommend to you "McNally's Secret" by Lawrence Sanders. The book is slightly dated, published in 1992, but it is a quick and easy read. And the block of 4 does play a major role in the story. There are five copies available in the San Antonio Public Library system.

Jack Virta needs to know if anyone knows the whereabouts of SAPA's Scotts 2015 catalog volume 3, G-I. If you have this information, please get in touch with Jack at the meetings, or call him at 210-826-4826. He would really appreciate your help with this.

ABC Stamps wishes all their friends at SAPA a

Happy New Year.

The Post Office Denied This Cat His Christmas Gift Because He's Got No ID

Leave it to THE MAN to challenge a kitty's right to postal service.

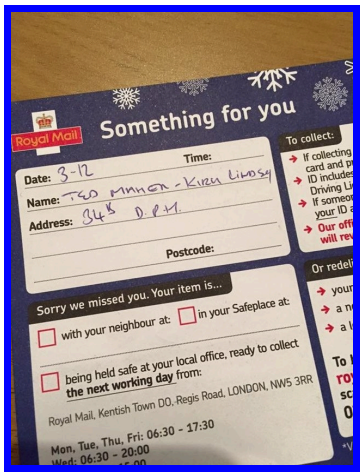
Nina Golgowski Trends reporter, The Huffington Post 12/09/2015 11:39 am ET

Paws off: This tabby cat named Ted became tangled in red tape when he was mailed a package but couldn't produce ID to accept it at the post office.

A British tabby cat named Ted became tangled in red tape when he was playfully mailed a package and then instructed to cough up ID to claim it.

Ted's amused owner, Brittany Maher-Kirk, shared her quagmire on Facebook Saturday after finding herself unable to retrieve what she said was a cat advent calendar sent from her mom.

"Unfortunately, we missed the delivery and the post office won't give it to me as the cat does not have ID," the 27-year-old wrote while sharing a photo of Ted obliviously sitting beside a Royal Mail notice written out to his name.
Brittany Maher-Kirk



The package was addressed specifically to Ted, barring his owner, Brittany, from collecting it for him.

Maher-Kirk said she called up her post office in London and told them her situation.

"They said they were under no obligation to give me the parcel, however, they suggested that [I] pop into the depo and explain," she wrote in an email to the Huffington Post Wednesday.

Fortunately for Ted and his time-sensitive surprise, when she did just that, she said the employees "were fantastic."

"They thought it was hilarious and just laughed at me," she said.
Brittany Maher-Kirk

Happy tale: Ted ended up getting his cat advent calendar in the end, which was full of little treats.

Brittany Maher-Kirk

The workers did express disappointment that she didn't bring Ted in with her, but she explained that the adorable feline suffers from feline immunodeficiency virus, which requires him to stay indoors.

"I did offer to show them pictures of Ted, but they said that they believe me, as no one could make it up," she stated.

As for Ted's gift, she described him as more than merrier.

"It's specifically for cats, so, full of cat treats," she said of the calendar. "They come in little blocks with fish and other festive pictures on! He loves it -- when he sees it he meows and begs for the treat!"

Thanks Huffpost for so enjoyably pointing out that not everything is covered by rules, but postal workers are good folks, too!
Happy New Year to Ted and everyone involved in his story. Lea
