WE WELCOME VISITORS

SAPA is always happy to welcome visitors. We hope you will enjoy our activities, and wish to join us as members.

All visitors are welcome to purchase stamps at our auctions, bourse, and bag nights. Anyone wishing to sell or trade at our meetings must be a member.

AUCTION ETIQUETTE:

Be sure to get your Bidder's number card before the auction starts. Come early and look over the lots for sale before the auction. During the auction, lots will be identified by their lot number and a brief description of the lot.

When bidding for a lot, please raise your Bidder's Number card and keep it up until you no longer wish to bid. Flipping the card up and down is confusing for the auctioneers.

Please keep extraneous conversation to a minimum. This makes it easier for everyone to hear what the auctioneer is selling, and allows the auctioneer to more easily keep track of the bidding.

Please wait until the end of the auction to pay for your purchases. Your name will be called as the tallys are completed. Those who are only buying will be called first. Buyers who are also sellers will be called next. Checks are acceptable, made out to S.A.P.A.

Sellers with unsold lots should be sure to pick up their lots before leaving.

Please be sure to return the Bidder's Number cards so that we can use them again in the following auctions.

We look forward to meeting you.

VICE-PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The Greater Houston Stamp Show , sponsored by the Houston Philatelic Society, held its 62nd annual exhibition and bourse at the Humble Civic Center September 19 through 21 on Will Clayton Parkway. The show included an active bourse (including Warren Crain and Kurt Harding from SAPA), exhibitions, an auction, a variety of programs and an active beginners area. The exhibitions included multiple frame exhibits, one frame exhibits, and youth exhibits. As many will recall, last year's show was cancelled due to Hurricane Ike that resulted in considerable damage in the Houston area. The venue was roomy with good lighting, and parking was readily available. The so- called beginner's area offered many containers of both US and foreign stamps at low cost as well as prizes for "pandas" hidden in the bins.

Judy Grant

Program Notes

November 20, 2009 "Watermarks and Tagging" by Richard Spies

Well, here is your chance to see the way things have been done through the years. Richard is going to demonstrate ways of detecting watermarks and tools for watermarking and tagging as well as some samples of various watermarks that he is familiar with. He is also going to show us about florescent "tagging" and bring the light that can do that. It should be a very interesting program.

Yours in philately, Pat Richmond

APS Circuit Books

It's that time of the year again. I have to put in our club's want list for the coming year before the end of Nov. We are hoping to be receiving 19 books each month. I would like to receive from each member their wishes for which countries to carry.

I am hoping to receive each month's selections during the last week of the month. That way the books will also be available for our Saturday meetings that will be held after the first Friday meeting of the month.

I'd like everyone to please select at least three countries that you want to receive (but one will also work). You may email your selections to me at "jrclay50@sbcglobal.net". Or give them to me at your next meeting attendance.

Thanks, John Clay

WELCOME WAGON

We are pleased to announce that we have a new member. We extend to him a welcoming hand, and wish him many years of happy collecting.

"The UPU and Color Schemes" (Part II)
by Sam Rodgers

As usual, Sam charmed the bunch present with his knowledge and understanding of postal history. He spoke about the origin of the UPU (Universal Postal Union) and the reason for the coloring system adopted by the UPU.

The main reason for the UPU adopting a color-coded system for postage is that postal workers in South Africa (where color-coding began) were not familiar with the language and denominations of other countries, i.e. special delivery, postage due, etc. So a system was developed to unify the coloring in each category to avoid the confusion.

The Universal Postal Union had its first meeting in 1875. It was initially founded on July 1, 1875 as a 'club of civilised nations'. Color-coding , however, did not become an official requirement with the UPU until the Washington, DC conference in 1897. The United States joined the UPU in 1903 and followed the same color-coding plan.

Sam had some very informative handouts which included an article by James Peter Gough, "UPU Colour-Coding", from the May, 2002 issue of London Philatelist. James Peter Gough, aka "Jamie", is an avid postal historian. He is the winner of the Grand Prix d'Honneur at PhilexFrance '99, for his exhibit of worldwide postage due mail.

Once again, Sam, you have proven to be a true asset to our programming. Thanks for a very interesting program.

"Duck Stamps" by Bob Joyce

Once again, Bob Joyce wowed us with his collection of duck stamps. His primary focus was on the beautiful artwork that is exhibited in these stamps. He shared one of his favorite reference books. Duck Stamps and Prints: The Complete Federal and State Editions. The artist who did the cover was nicknamed, 'Ding'.

In the picture at right, Bob is holding a beautiful stamp called a "remarque". A remarque is a stamp on which something is drawn by the artist who designed the stamp. A remarque is always signed by the artist.

Bob showed us many beautiful duck stamps and some lovely souvenir cards with the same picture as the stamp.

All-in-all, it was a most enjoyable evening. Thanks, Bob, for another educational program.

Yours in philately, Pat Richmond

"Ph"-eatured Philatelist
Sam "Buck" Rodgers

Sam "Buck" Rodgers was born on Jun 12, 1949 (Friday, 8:15 —no Sam, we don't want to know how much you weighed and what the nurses names were, etc.—you know how you are with minutia!!) He was born at "Dr. Franco's Clinic" in Guanajuata, Guanajata, Mexico. His parents were Marie Baldwin Rodgers from Denville, NJ and Sam Rodgers from Mexico. (Needless to say, Sam has dual citizenship).

I asked, how in the world did his parents meet. Get a load of this, folks! In 1947, Sam's father, Sam was a silver miner in his father's (Sam III –the grandfather's silver mine) and some little Indian kids ran up to him and said that there was a "Gringa" over "there" who was driving a WWII Jeep and she had 2 flat tires. So, Sam (the father) went over to help Marie and fell in love. (Sidebar: "What," I asked, "was your mother doing in a WWII Jeep by herself in Mexico?" The answer was even more bizarre. It seems that Sam's mother and her brother [also from NJ] were smugglers by profession. They would smuggle high-end New American cars to wealthy Mexicans. I told you it was bizarre— It certainly helps to explain the very unique genes handed down to our Sam Rodgers, doesn't it!!!)

Anyway, Sam (V—SAPA's Sam) and his family lived in Mexico City for 17 years. He attended a private elementary school called Waldorf System School in Mexico City for about 6 years. Then for 3 years, he attended "Academia Militarizada México" (a military school in Mexico City)

The family left and came to El Paso in 1966. Sam joined the Navy to avoid the draft in 1968 before he had a chance to finish El Paso High School. After 4 years, he got out and went to school on the GI Bill for 3 years in Cholula, Pueblo, Mexico at the "University of the Americas" studying Anthropology. In 1975, the GI Bill ran out and he came back to the states.

In 1976, he moved to San Antonio and in 1977, he met Mary Eileen "Pepper" Reed who was an ER nurse at the Methodist Hospital in SA. They met at "Mad Michael's Bar" where all the ER nurses went after their shift. They did a lot of latin dancing to lively latin music. They were married on November 19, 1979. They had one son in 1980. OK here's the skinny on Sam's name— Our Sam is Sam V, his son is Sam VI—and it doesn't stop there— Every Sam since Sam I has been married to a woman named Mary. Can you imagine what a family reunion is like??? Some Mary says, "Sam, Dear, please come here" and 5 guys show up— What a family!!!

Sam went back into the navy in 1979 and got out in 1981. He and his family stayed in SA for 10 years. He owned a cleaning business called "Advanced Cleaning Systems"—they cleaned anything!!!

They moved to Richmond, Va. in 1990 where he went to work for a bakery decorating cakes until 1994. They then had to move back to SA to help take care of Pepper's mother. He opened an office as an herbalist—"Sam's Herbal Nutrition". He had this shop until June of 2008.

As you would expect, he has many hobbies. These hobbies include needlepoint, embroidery, wood-carving with gouges, cake-decorating, decorative chain maille jewelry, lapidary work, xerophytes (cacti), minerology, leathercrafting, ballroom dancing (avid) as well as philately.

Sam started philately in 1957. He was in bed sick and his mother started him with it to keep him from getting bored. He still has his first stamp, "1956 commemorative 10 centavo of the Centennial of Mexico Independence.

He collects Mexico, US and US Colonies. His other philatelic interests are straight edges, cut squares, revenue stamps, private issues, perfins, selvages, US precancels and EFO's He belongs to MEPSI (Mexican Philatelic Society) and SAPA.

You have certainly had a very unique life, Sam. We at SAPA are pleased to have you with us, and we really enjoy your programs. I can see from your list of philatelic interests that you have many more programs that I can hit-you-up for. Remember, you may run, but you cannot hide from me!!! Seriously though, Sam, you always come up with some of the most unusual programs we've ever had. (FLASH!!! I have Sam scheduled for another "tantalizing" program in 2010!!! Stay tuned!)

Thanks, Sam for being an active part of our bunch. Yours in philately, Pat Richmond

Editor's Album by John L. Leszak

Round the Clock Philatelic Enthusiasts (part 1)

(This is the first part of an editoral taken from Mekeel's and Stamps Magazine, Feb. 13,* 2009. Thanks, Stamp News, for your kind permission. What a great magazine! Stamp News can be contacted at: <http://www.stampnewsnow.com>, phone 800-635-3351, or mail to Stamp News, 42 Sentry Way, Merrimack, NH, 03054.)

Some philatelists take out their stamp collections once a year to insert new supplements into their albums. Others dabble with their stamps and covers for a half hour before dinner or before bedtime. Many will occasionally carve out a weekend to devote entirely to their philatelic endeavors.

However, there's also that rare and dynamic breed of philatelists. They're the folks who have incorporated philately into their daily living routine. They practice their philately with a 24/7 level of enthusiasm and their very lives are interwoven within a philatelic infrastructure. Some people are on the brink of becoming Round the Clock Philatelic Enthusiasts and don't even realize it. Others are so immersed in their 24/7 philatelic endeavors that the rest of the world is simply background noise.

Those who embrace philately on a 24/7 basis truly reap the joy that's derived from philatelic inthusiasm. Non-philatelists might deem such enthusiasm to be eccentric, but in reality, they simply do not realize how much fun philatelists are having.

In order to properly diagnose if you're a Round the Clock Phila-telic Enthusiast, the following list of signs and symptoms has been assembled.

★You turn down free theater tickets because your stamp club meets on that same night.

★You shop in the housewares section of your local department store in search of items that may be useful for storing your stamps and covers.

★You scrutinize stamps on incoming mail before opening your letters.

★You curse people who send you metered mail.

★You keep surplus philatelic material in the trunk of your car.

★People notice old stamp hinges clinging to your sweater.

★Friends at work talk about their nights on the town, and you mention that you stayed up until 3 a.m. perfing a hoard of Washington-Franklin stamps.

★Your bathroom reading rack includes Mekeel's & Stamps and assorted auction catalogs.

★You set your alarm for 2:27 a.m. to check the status of an eBay stamp auction lot.

★You must move philatelic clutter on your desk in order to find a ringing cell phone.

★You can't wash dirty dishes because there are stamps soaking in the kitchen sink.

★You keep a lint brush in your stamp room to use after sorting through a mess of stamps & covers.

★You stay up late at night sorting stamps, but it only seems like 20 minutes have elapsed.

★You name your pets "Perf," "Black Jack" and "Blue Nose."

★You plan stamp shows around your anniversary and/or birthday.

★You buy philatelic gifts for your spouse, who is a non-collector.

★You keep back issues of Mekeel's & Stamps in your car to read during slow moving rish hour traffic.

★You reach for a paper towel to wipe a spill, and remember that you used the last roll to soak stamps.

★The first ten phone numbers in your speed dial are for philatelic friends.

★You sort philatelic material in your bed.

★To pass time and relax, you like to flip through your stamp album.

★You blurt out Scott Catalogue Numbers in your sleep.

★You rummage through trash bins in the Post Office lobby, looking for stamps on envelopes that people threw away.

★You ask your new neighbors from a foreigh country if you can have the envelopes sent from their relatives back home.

★You bring small philatelic projects to work to sort during your lunch hour.

★You're glad when everyone leaves the house to watch the Super Bowl at some bar, so you can focus on your stamps.

★You wear more than one stamp pin on your lapel.

★You have a baseball cap with assorted stamppins.

★You can recall the dates of all the APS stamp shows, but cannot readily recall your spouse's birthday.

★You suspect that the delivery of Mekeel's & Stamps is delayed because people at the Post Office are reading it first.

★You throw out several cold cups of coffee or tea from your stamp room because you were too busy with stamps to drink them.

★You go out frequently to dinner because your dining room table is too cluttered with philatelic material.

★Your friends wonder why you have canisters labeled "Flour," "Coffee" and "Stamps for Soaking" in your kitchen.

★You must move several large cartons of philatelic clutter in order to reach the Christmas decorations in your closet.

★When you vacuum, the vacuum canister contains old stamp hinges and an occasional stray stamp.

★You keep stamp hinges on your kitchen table, right next to the salt and pepper.

★You sling winter coats across chairs because your closets are crammed with philatelic material.

If ten or more of the above scenarios relate to you, you are definitely a Round the Clock Enthusiast. If five to nine of the scenarios pertain to your philatelic endeavors, then you are on your way to becoming a Round the Clock Enthusiast. If one to four scenarios pertain to your present philatelic condition, you're working too hard; take a weekend off and play with your stamps. If none of these scenarios pertain to you, then you're in the wrong hobby, and you should take up face painting, darts or making snowmen.

As always, your comments and observations are invited!

(That goes for me, too! - Lea)
