Armed Forces Day, May 17, 2014 (Scott #3174)

Editor's Corner

More stamps to go with holidays :-)

Armed Forces Day is celebrated in the U. S. on the third Saturday in May. It falls near the end of Armed Forces Week, which begins on the second Saturday of May and ends on the third Sunday of May.

Flag Day, June 14 (new stamps)

First observed on 20 May 1950, the day was created on 31 August 1949, to honor Americans serving in the five U.S. military branches – the U.S. Army, U.S. Navy, U.S. Marine Corps, U.S. Air Force and U.S. Coast Guard – following the consolidation of the military services in the U.S. Department of Defense. It was intended to replace the separate Army-, Navy-, Air Force-, Marine Corps- and Coast Guard Days, but the separate days are still observed, especially within the respective services. Because of their unique training schedules, National Guard and Reserve units may celebrate Armed Forces Day/Week over any period in the month of May.

The first Armed Forces Day was celebrated by parades, open houses, receptions and air shows. The United States' longest running city-sponsored Armed Forces Day Parade is held in Bremerton, Washington. In 2014, Bremerton will celebrate the 66th year of the Armed Forces Day Parade.

National Flag Day is when Americans celebrate what our nation's flag stands for, honor the traditions associated with its care, and educate those around us to its significance. The Flag of the United States is to be honored and carries with it both history and tradition. On June 14, 1777 the Flag Resolution was signed, making the current stars and stripes the National Flag of the United States of America. On May 30, 1916, President Woodrow Wilson called for the nation wide observance of Flag Day. On August 3, 1949, President Harry S. Truman signed congress's decree, making June 14th of each year National Flag Day.

WE WELCOME VISITORS

SAPA is always happy to welcome visitors. We hope you will enjoy our activities and wish to join us as members.

All visitors are welcome to purchase stamps at our auctions, bourses and bag nights. Anyone wishing to sell or trade at our meetings must be a member.

AUCTION ETIQUETTE :

Be sure to get your Bidder's number card before the auction starts. Come early and look over the lots for sale before the auction. During the auction, lots will be identified by their lot number and a brief description of the lot.

When bidding for a lot, please raise your Bidder's Number card and keep it up until you no longer wish to bid. Flipping the card up and down is confusing for the auctioneers.

Please keep extraneous conversation to a minimum. This makes it easier for everyone to hear what the auctioneer is selling, and allows the auctioneer to more easily keep track of the bidding.

While your purchases will be given to you during the auction, please wait until the end of the auction to pay for them. Your name will be called as the tallys are completed. Those who are only buying will be called first. Buyers who are also sellers will be called next. Checks made out to S.A.P.A. are acceptable. Sellers with unsold lots should be sure to pick up their lots before leaving.

Please be sure to return the Bidder's Number cards so that we can use them again in the following auctions.

We look forward to meeting you.

President's Message

Fiesta, San Antonio's annual party, is finally coming to an end. I was thinking the other day that parades might be a good theme for a future issue by the postal service. Along with the Macy's parade in New York, the Rose Bowl parade in LA, San Antonio would have a good shot with our three Fiesta parades. Maybe the stamp club could make a recommendation.

I have enjoyed this last couple of weeks of good weather. I along with many of you, I suspect, have been doing my spring cleanup in the yard and garden. I harvested my first batch of radishes on Friday. I also got tired of looking at the dead patch in my front yard, and planted some grass. Now that the party is over, bring on the rain.

Dr. Eric Shepherd

PROGRAM NOTES

May 21 - "Covers from WWII" by George Garton

George tells me that this presentation highlights postal history from 1939 to 1945. He will present covers from the Pearl Harbor 1941 attack by the Japanese to the final surrender of the Axis powers. Highlights will include covers from ships attacked at Pearl Harbor, POW covers, a postcard from a Neishi Camp in the USA. There will also be patriotic covers and a cover from a German POW to Germany. In short, this will be a glimpse into this era thru postal history.

This should be an interesting evening for those of you who are partial to WWII memories. George promises us it will be interesting and informative. I, for one, am looking forward to the evening.

Yours in Philately, Pat Richmond

"Fort Sam Houston Then and Now"

By Dr. Eric Shepherd

February 21, 2014

Dr. Shepherd promised us an entertaining evening and truly it was. He began with a little history of postcards itself. The first US postcards were in 1873. Businesses would buy sheets of post cards and cut them apart and print advertisement on the back of them. The U S Post Office frowned on this, so the greeting card business lobbied hard to overturn the ban and in 1898 the Private Mailing Card was passed by an Act of Congress. By the 1900's there were several hundred themes were on postcards. The printing methods have changed over the years from black and white/color lithograph to color photo cards.

He then gave us a history of Fort Sam Houston as it developed from the Alamo to the present day.

The first post in Fort Sam Houston was established in San Antonio in 1845 with the arrival of the 2nd Regiment of Dragoons. Various buildings in San Antonio were rented at the time. This included the Alamo. ====>

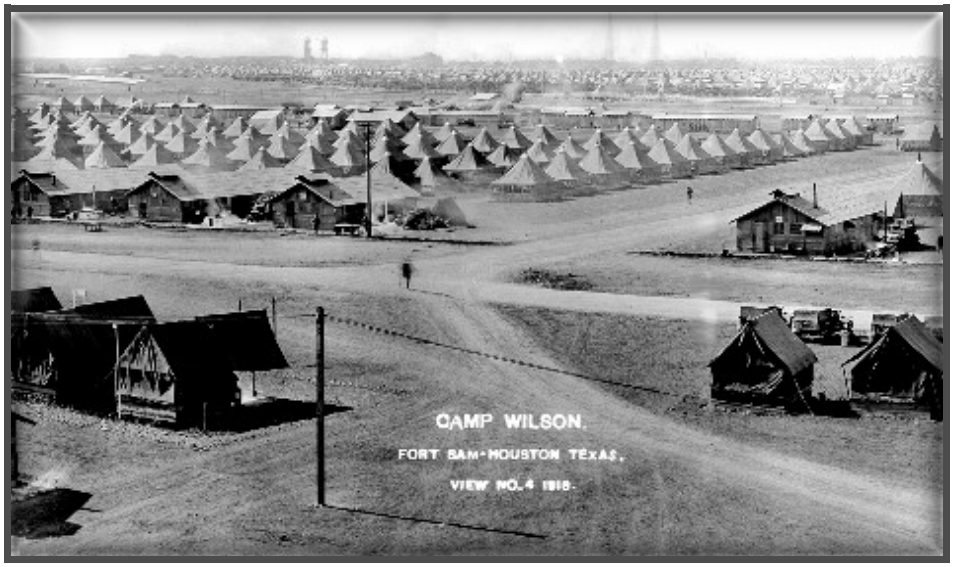
In 1865, the Union forces returned to San Antonio, but the army had plans to move the garrison somewhere else due to the high cost of rent in the city. Then, to keep the army in San Antonio, the city council offered the army 92 acres for a permanent post in an area that came to be known as Government Hill. Construction of the base began in 1876.

The main building was known as the long barracks.

In 1908, the second hospital with 84 beds was constructed.

In 1910 the post became the testing ground for the Army's first air craft.

The plane was housed in a hanger located just north of the new cemetery. The area became known as Aviation Post. It was designated Dodd Field in 1928.



Prior to the invasion of Mexico in 1916, 100,000 troops were assembled at Fort Sam Houston. They were housed in tents in an area known as Camp Wilson.

In 1947, the Medical Field Service School was transferred to Fort Sam Houston.

The base now occupies more than 3000 acres.

The remainder of the presentation was an extensive collection from periods in the history of Fort Sam Houston and photographs that Dr. Eric painstakingly took in the modern day. It was very interesting to me to see how he managed to get the pictures he took with his camera to mimic the angles that were shown on the postcards. His collection was most interesting and prolific.

Thanks to you Dr. Eric!!! You promised an entertaining program, and you came through " in Spades" for us. Those of us who were there were indeed fascinated with your postcard collection and the pictures that paralleled them.

I was impressed with the research that went into this program. Thank you, again, Dr. Eric.

Yours in Philately, Pat Richmond
